Classic UFO Cases

Over the years there have been a number of 'classic' UFO cases. These are well documented, often with multiple witnesses and additional evidence such as photographic or video footage and radar traces. These are the events which refuse to 'die' and often get quoted on TV documentaries and at conferences around the world. This is the start of a series of articles aiming to give the reader a brief outline of the events and history surrounding each case.

It would be impossible to document every UFO case in history here, so I've chosen what I consider to be possibly the top ten discussed UFO events. The information provided in this introductory article is minimal, in order to briefly summarise the main events. Each event will be covered in detail in future issues, starting with the Kenneth Arnold case on page 8.

Cascade Mountains, 1947

Kenneth Arnold's original sighting of nine shining 'disc-shaped' objects as he was flying through the Cascade Mountains on June 24th 1947. This sighting led to the creation of the phrase "flying saucers" as Arnold described the objects to the news as "skimming like a saucer does on water."

Although this event is widely regarded as the start of modern ufology, there are a number of other sightings surrounding the event that are worth investigating. Perhaps the most enigmatic is the Maury Island Mystery - described on page 8.

A sequence of events, Belgium, 1990

starting on 2nd December 1989 led to one of the most celebrated and well documented cases in UFO history. The night of 30-31st March 1990 was when everything went haywire, resulting in reports from all over Belgium and Germany. Two F-16 fighters were scrambled to intercept an unexplained object detected by radar screens. In minutes the fighters were airborne and obtained radar lock on the object.

However, each time the fighters tried to intercept, the object broke radar lock and out-accelerated the F-16s. At one point the object dropped 1300m in one second and in total the aerial chase lasted some 75 minutes.

The object certainly appeared to be intelligently controlled as it took evasive action, and Colonel (now General) W.De Brouwer, the Belgian air force chief of operations later commented that "There was a logic in the movements of the UFO."

Bonnybridge

Bonnybridge is located approx 15 miles from Falkirk, Scotland and, along with Warminster in England, is one of the biggest UFO 'Hotspots' in the United Kingdom, with more than 8000 reports filed by local inhabitants between 1992-4 alone.

Although there is no single incident more worthy than others, the location has been a focal point of UFO activity for a number of years. Indeed, like the Warminster sightings of the 1960's, UFO sightings often occur in 'waves'.

Gulf Breeze

Like Bonnybridge, Gulf Breeze is one of the UFO hotspots of the USA, with many hundreds of sightings occurring over the years. Probably the most controversial publicity for the Gulf Breeze sightings came from the spectacular photos taken by an architect called Ed Walters in 1987 and 1988. Some of Ed Walters photos are so detailed, including one showing a UFO emitting a blue beam of light that lifted him off the ground, that it's either an elaborate and brilliant hoax or conclusive proof of alien craft.

"Foo Fighters"

Foo Fighters started being reported a few years prior to Kenneth Arnold's 'saucer' sightings in 1947. Airmen of all sides reported seeing balls of fire, or light, whilst carrying out air raids during the Second World War. The name originated from the US Smokey Stover comic strip in the 1940's, which used the phrase "Where there's foo there's fire" and was coined by the American airmen.

These UFOs or Foo Fighters were often reported as travelling at speeds in excess of 250mph and airmen sometimes claimed that encounters with them damaged aircraft ignition systems. Ball Lightning was one explanation put forward, as well as secret technology 'the other side' were developing. Also reports of Foo Fighters ended in 1945 with the end of the war.

During the total solar eclipse of 11th Mexico City, 1991

July 1991, no fewer than 17 people at different locations in Mexico City independently videoed a silver, metallic object in the sky above the city. This is possibly one of the biggest UFO sightings in history, yet relatively little media coverage occurred outside of Mexico itself.

Editor of the Mexican 60 Minutes television programme, Jaime Maussan even organised a division of his TV production company to the investigation of UFOs, following the multiple witness sightings in 1991. What makes this case so special is the amount of video footage take by different people, all of which has been analysed and found to correlate the time, position and movement of the craft.

The incidents surrounding Rendlesham Forest and Rendlesham, 1980

the Bentwaters Air Force base in Essex form what is probably the most well documented and publicised event in United Kingdom UFO history. In the early hours of December 27th 1980 Rendlesham forest was about to enter the history books, as two security patrolmen not only witnessed a UFO sighting but even encountered a metallic, triangular craft which appeared to land in the forest. What makes this event all the more important is that tape-recordings of the original radio transmission from the investigators are available to the public, along with the transcript of the report by base commander Lt-Col. Charles Halt, detailing the whole incident.

The Roswell event is arguably the most well known and documented UFO event in history. Not only has it inspired numerous TV shows and films but also a large number of books and magazines.

Roswell became international news in July 1947 when The Roswell Daily Herald announced on its front page that the RAAF had captured a flying saucer. Coming a mere eight days after Kenneth Arnold's 'saucer' story, the Roswell event centres around an alleged UFO crash in a deserted part of the New Mexico desert, some 80 miles NE of the White Sands missile testing range. On July 2nd, ranger 'Mac' Brazel heard a loud explosion during an electrical storm. On investigating the following morning he found some mysterious 'wreckage' strewn across a portion of his ranch. He reported it to the local sheriff, who in turn contacted the nearby army air force base. The ranch was visited by Major Jesse Marcel of the 509th bomber squadron.

The story got out and the papers covered it. However, only a couple of days later the government took control and back-tracked on the story, claiming that it was merely a crashed weather balloon. To this day, the arguments continue as to what really happened that week. However, there were over 200 witnesses and testimony's, including the pilot who ferried recovered 'bodies' away, the local undertaker and nurses at a nearby hospital.

Socorro, 1964

Socorro is very close to Roswell and a lot of events surrounding Roswell may indeed have been mistaken for events that occurred here. However, on April 24th 1964 "one of the classics of UFO literature", to use the words of Project Blue Book consultant J.Allen Hynek, was witnessed by New Mexico highway patrol officer Lonnie Zamora. He was travelling on US Route 85 when his attention was alerted to a "descending machine, exhausting blue and orange flames, and periodically hovering."

He turned off the main road and went to investigate. Climbing a rise, he observed what appeared to be an egg-shaped metallic craft resting on legs extended from it. He immediately radioed the Sheriff's office and then as he watched, two humanoid figures emerged from the craft, dressed in what appeared to be white uniforms. Finding cover he then witnessed the craft rise vertically and then take off in a horizontal direction.

One of the most frequently

Washington DC, 1952

asked questions by sceptics is "If UFOs exist then why don't they land on the Whitehouse lawn?"

Well, in 1952 they nearly did. There was a unprecedented UFO activity in what has been termed the great "Washington flap" of 1952. At its height in July 1952, radars at both Washington National Airport and Andrews Air Force Base picked up UFOs and there were so many witness accounts that questions started to be asked at The Pentagon, culminating in a press conference being held on July 29th at which a reporter asked the Director of Air Force Intelligence, General John Samford, "Is it some very highly secret new weapon that we're working on that's causing these flying saucer reports?" to which Samford replied "We have nothing that has no mass and unlimited power!"

These are just brief descriptions of some of the most famous cases in UFO history. However, it is difficult to select a small number of cases from the hundreds recorded. There have been so many logged reports, not only by ordinary members of the public but by policemen and women, military personnel, commercial pilots, members of congress & parliament and even astronauts, that the sheer weight of evidence demands that more research is carried out.

Project Blue book documented over 13,000 sightings and, although concluding that a high percentage could be explained in terms of mis-sightings, natural phenomena and terrestrial craft, in excess of 640 cases remain 'unexplained'. This alone is justification to re-open the archives.

Indeed, some people might argue that Project Blue Book was never actually closed....

Cascade Mountains, 1947

1947 was a landmark year in the history of Ufology. Not only because of the infamous Roswell crash, but also because of Kenneth Arnold's famous sighting from which the phrase 'flying saucer' originated.

However, Arnold's sighting was not one in isolation. There were numerous sightings in June and July '47, so it's perhaps more difficult to isolate one event from others that occurred within a close timeframe.

There were three main events that took place within a few weeks of each other so it's perhaps shrewd to step back from one particular case and examine them all.

It's difficult to link the various sightings together, if indeed they were in some way linked, so I'll describe them here in chronological order. To give you more of an overview, there were three significant sightings that we shall examine:

Bakersfield, Cascade Mountains and Maury Island.

The latter is located in a strip of water known as Puget Sound, off Tacoma, Washington. The Cascade Mountains incident is the famous Arnold Sighting, but we'll start by examining the first event; Bakersfield.

Whilst flying from Chicago to Los Angeles over Bakersfield, California on the afternoon of 14th June 1947, pilot Richard Rankin reported seeing ten flying discs, each averaging about 35' in diameter. He claimed they were travelling at approx 560mph and deployed in a triangular formation. Although only ten days before Arnold's sighting, Rankin's report is largely overlooked, and surprisingly little mention is made of it in Arnold's own book "The Coming of the Saucers".

A few days after Rankin's sighting, on June 21st, a boatman called Harold Dahl and the crew of his small boat witnessed what was described as six unknowns shaped like huge inflated inner tubes (sometimes described as doughnut shaped). They appeared to be hovering above the boat at a height of of roughly 2000 feet.

At first the crew thought they were balloons, but without any movement. Dahl reported that five of the UFOs appeared to be moving around the sixth, which seemed to be malfunctioning. After a while the objects had dropped to approximately a couple of hundred yards above Dahl's boat, at which point the witnesses judged the objects to be approx 100' across.

Fearing a possible collision with a malfunctioning craft, Dahl beached his craft and the crew continued to watch the UFOs. As they watched, the 'malfunctioning' one suddenly expelled a flurry of aluminium foil-like chaff.

This glittering metal showered the entire area and was immediately followed by what was described as the discharge of a much bulkier, slag-like material which made the water below turn to steam when it hit it.

Indeed, some of the expelled material burnt Dahl's sons arm and killed their pet dog who was also on the boat. In total Dahl estimated that some "twenty tons of the debris had fallen". When the objects started slowly moving towards the horizon, and finally out of view, the crew radioed the patrol base but radio static prevented them from making contact. They then examined the damage to the boat and collected some samples of the strange debris that had dropped to earth.

On their return, Dahl's superior officer Fred L. Crisman was initially rather sceptical of the story, but nonetheless decided to visit the portion of beach where the debris was scattered, in order to investigate for himself.

He visited the island and did indeed find the shoreline strewn with "glassy, near-black rock and shiny foil".

He was amazed to witness himself, another UFO sighting which seemed to fit the description of Dahl's one seen the previous day. He later described it himself as "a brassy, almost golden, metallic aircraft with a burled finish which showed more brilliance than a polished surface would show." It was again shaped like an inflated inner tube and flew with complete silence.

Arnold's own sighting occurred on June 24th 1947 and whilst not specifically spectacular itself, it is memorable mainly because of the media furor which arose from Arnold's description of the way the UFOs travelled through the air; "like saucers skimming over water" - hence the origin of the phrase 'flying saucers', which appears to be a reporters corruption of his actual words. None the less, the phrase has stuck ever since.

Arnold was president of a company which manufactured fire extinguishers, based in Boise, Idaho. At 2pm in the afternoon on June 24th he took off from Chesham airfield, Washington, bound for Yakima on what was to become a memorable flight.

His routine flight was disrupted for an hour whilst he diverted to take part in the search for a Navy transport plane which had apparently crashed in the vicinity of Mount Rainier.

After an unsuccessful search he resumed his flight towards Yakima, noticing a DC-4 travelling at about 15,000 feet as he relaxed on his flight. It was good weather and he commented himself, "That day the weather was so good that flying was sheer pleasure."

Barely two or three minutes after resuming his flight path a blinding beam of light was reflected by his aircraft. Initially he couldn't see the origin of the reflection but was then startled to see a row of nine strange flying objects to his left, to the north of Mount Rainier. They were travelling at such a speed, Arnold initially thought they were jets (taking into account that this sighting occurred several months before the first commercial jet).

Every few seconds a couple of the objects banked or changed course, causing them to be struck by sunlight. Although they appeared to be following a specific course, they swerved around the summit of the mountain and Arnold reported that they were flying in a diagonal line, almost giving the appearance of being joined together. He approximated their range to be about 16 miles from his own aircraft and around 2/3rds the size of the DC-4 he had seen earlier.

Using the range of mountains as a measurement, the line of UFOs must have been around 5 miles long and as Arnold had timed them between Mount Rainier and Mount Adams, some fifty miles to the south, their speed was calculated to be approx 1750mph.

In the evening, after his landing, he told reporters his infamous description of them sailing through the air "like saucers skimming over water", which took only hours to spread throughout the media, resulting in his bombardment with questions by the press.

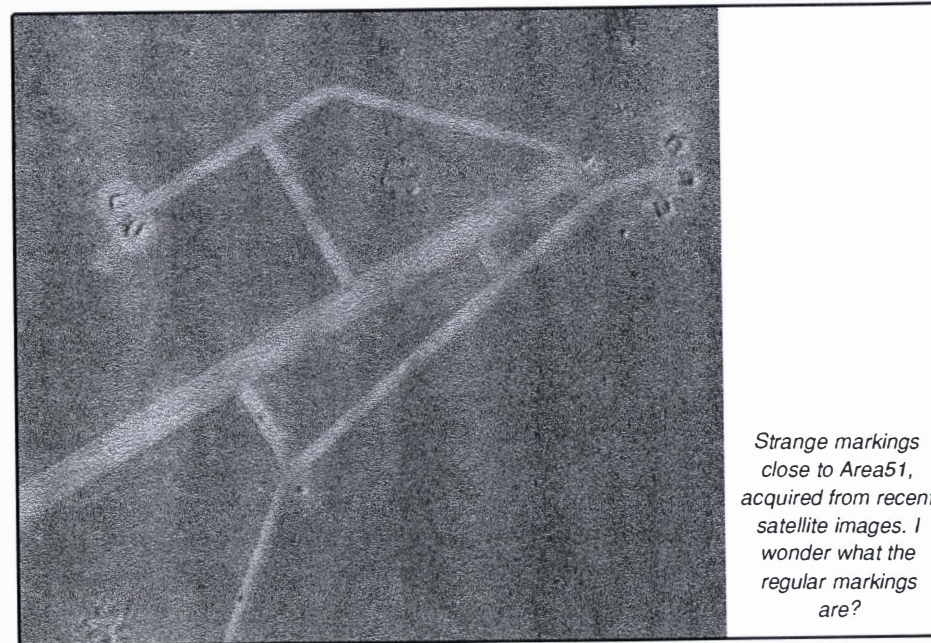

It's unknown exactly what Arnold saw, alien craft or some secret US Air Force developmental craft? Either way, Arnold was no sensation monger, being an experienced pilot and respected businessman. His report also interested the FBI and Army Air Forces enough to perform their own investigation of the case.

According to an FBI memorandum to the Officer-in-Charge from Special Agent Frank M. Brown, filed on July 16th 1947, "It is the personal opinion of the interviewer that [Arnold] actually saw what he states he saw in the attached report. It is also the opinion of the interviewer that [Arnold] would have much more to lose than gain and would have to be very strongly convinced that he actually saw something before he would report such an incident and open himself up for public ridicule that would accompany such a report."*

The days and months following Arnold's sighting saw hundreds of reports of strange UFOs all over the US. Arnold himself became a firm believer in UFOs, later writing a book on the subject and interviewing other witnesses. It's also interesting to note that many of the reports come from pilots and other seemingly reliable witnesses.

When I first heard about the Bill Clinton/Monica Lewinski case I thought, "He's been found out at last. Perhaps some of the other suppressed secrets will come out". However, the spin doctors soon got to work to turn it into a PR job for him, so the truth remains hidden for the time being.

Some would say it's unlucky to come into contact with the Clinton's? Some wonder what Bill's secret agenda is? Some wonder what he's hiding? Some perhaps came too close to the truth? The following is a list of dead people connected with Bill Clinton:

James McDougal - apparent heart attack, while in solitary confinement. He was a key witness in Ken Starr's investigation.

Mary Mahoney - A former White House intern was murdered July 1997 at a Starbucks Coffee Shop in Georgetown. The murder happened just after she announced she was to go public with her story of sexual harassment in the White House.

Vince Foster - Former white House councillor, and colleague of Hillary Clinton at Little Rock's Rose law firm. Died of a gunshot wound to the head, ruled a suicide.

Ron Brown - Secretary of Commerce and former DNC Chairman. Reported to have died by impact in a plane crash. A pathologist close to the investigation reported that there was a hole in the top of Brown's skull resembling a gunshot wound. At the time of his death Brown was being investigated, and spoke publicly of his willingness to cut a deal with prosecutors.

C. Victor Raiser II - Montgomery Raiser major players in the Clinton fund raising organization died in a private plane crash in July 1992.

Paul Tulley - Democratic National Committee Political Director found dead in a hotel room in Little Rock, September 1992. Described by Clinton as a "Dear friend and trusted advisor".

Ed Willey - Clinton fund raiser, found dead November 1993 deep in the woods in Virginia of a gunshot wound to the head. Ruled a suicide. Ed Willey died on the same day his wife Kathleen Willey claimed Bill Clinton groped her in the oval office in the White House. Ed Willey was involved in several Clinton fund raising events.

Jerry Parks - Head of Clinton's gubernatorial security team in Little Rock. Gunned down in his car at a deserted intersection outside Little Rock. Park's son said his father was building a dossier on Clinton. He allegedly threatened to reveal this information. After he died the files were mysteriously removed from his house.

James Bunch - Died from a gunshot suicide. It was reported that he had a 'Black Book' of people containing names of influential people who visited prostitutes in Texas and Arkansas.

James Wilson - Was found dead in May 1993 from an apparent hanging suicide. He was reported to have ties to Whitewater.

Kathy Ferguson - Ex-wife of Arkansas Trooper Danny Ferguson was found dead in May 1994 in her living room with a gunshot to her head. It was ruled a suicide even though there were several packed suitcases, as if she was going somewhere. Danny Ferguson was a co-defendant along with Bill Clinton in the Paula Jones lawsuit. Kathy Ferguson was a possible corroborating witness for Paula Jones.

Bill Shelton - Arkansas state Trooper and fiancée of Kathy Ferguson. Critical of the suicide ruling of his fiancée, he was found dead in June, 1994 of a gunshot wound, also ruled a suicide, at the grave site of his fiancée.

Gandy Baugh - Attorney for Clinton friend Dan Lassater died by jumping out a window of a tall building January, 1994. His client was a convicted drug distributor.

Florence Martin - Accountant subcontractor for the CIA related to the Barry Seal Mena Airport drug smuggling case. Died of three gunshot wounds.

Suzanne Coleman - Reportedly had an affair with Clinton when he was Arkansas Attorney General. Died of a gunshot wound to the back of the head, ruled a suicide. Was pregnant at the time of her death.

Paula Grober - Clinton's speech interpreter for the deaf from 1978 until her death December 9, 1992. She died in a one car accident.

Danny Casolaro - Investigative reporter. Investigating Mena Airport and Arkansas Development Finance Authority. He slit his wrists, apparent suicide in the middle of his investigation.

Paul Wilcher - Attorney investigating corruption at Mena Airport with Casolaro and the 1980 'October Surprise' - was found dead on the toilet June 22, 1993 in his Washington DC apartment. Had delivered a report to Janet Reno three weeks before his death.

Jon Parnell Walker - Whitewater investigator for Resolution Trust Corp. Jumped to his death from his Arlington, Virginia apartment balcony August 15, 1993 Was investigating Morgan Guarantee scandal.

Barbara Wise - Commerce Department staffer. Worked closely with Ron Brown and John Huang. Cause of death unknown. Died November 29, 1996. Her bruised nude body was found locked in her office at the Department of Commerce.

Charles Meissner - Assistant Secretary of Commerce who gave John Huang special security clearance, died shortly thereafter in a small plane crash.

Dr. Stanley Heard - Chairman of the National Chiropractic Health Care

Clinton Deaths

Advisory Committee died with his attorney Steve Dickson in a small plane crash. Dr. Heard, in addition to serving on Clinton's advisory council personally treated Clinton's mother, step father and brother.

Barry Seal - Drug running pilot out of Mena Arkansas, Death was no accident.

Johnny Lawhorn Jr. - Mechanic, found a check made out to Clinton in the trunk of a car left in his repair shop. Died when his car hit a utility pole.

Stanley Huggins - Suicide. Investigated Madison Guarantee. His report was never released.

Hershell Friday - Attorney and Clinton fund raiser died March 1, 1994 when his plane exploded.

Kevin Ives & Don Henry - Known as "The boys on the track" case. Reports say the boys may have stumbled upon the Mena arkansas airport drug operation. Controversial case where initial report of death was due to falling asleep on railroad track. Later reports claim the 2 boys had been slain before being placed on the tracks. Many linked to this case died before their testimony could come before a Grand Jury.

GM Discussion

There's the fuzzy thought that our current cycle of history might have happened before.

Here's the rational logic;

The human body digests food. Food is made up of living matter. Living matter is chemical computer code. Computer code relies on subroutines.

Our bodies may depend on subroutines we don't know about yet but which get Genetically Modified - changed. We'll know about the subroutine when the body fails. OUCH!

Genetic modification of these subroutines is dangerous in two ways. They are pieces of software which are used as hardware building blocks. The hardware is the product of an infinite evolution of software.

On the micro scale, these function within us. On the macro scale, each organism has a function, is a subroutine, within the mechanics of the whole ecology.

HARDWARE MODIFICATIONS

Bill Gates keeps on making "genetic mutations" to the building blocks of the Windows program. Bits and

The Horror of Genetically Modified food:

Please republish this as widely as possible - might be an idea to keep my name attached to it ... I studied genetic engineering, then called biophysics, at Imperial College London in 1981

First the fuzzy, then the rational logic;
One might hypothesise that the pig could have been genetically modified in Atlantis.

Apparently pig tastes like human, according to air crash survivors. In our turn we find that pigs are close enough to us to be able to use pigs to grow human spare parts.

Perhaps human genes were put into the pig - and for reasons connected with Plato's description of the reasons for the sinking of the lost continent. After the flood in which Atlantis sank, Noah's descendants remembered that the pig was a left over of a distasteful era and so was unclean.

pieces of upgrade (Service pack 95 for instance) are bolted on.

Ever loaded Office to then find one's machine then behaves differently? Got a scanner that uses Textbridge which works brilliantly in Word 97 which is then not recognised in Office 97? Some of my customers do - they buy Office 97 and then I have to install an old Office 95 version instead. We find it impossible to keep track of the upgrades.

So Wheat gets GMed (genetically modified) now. In 100 years time that gets GMed. - We'll have forgotten what the original code was by then and we won't be able to keep track of the upgrades. How often does your computer crash for no explicable reason? OUCH!

SOFTWARE MODIFICATIONS: THE EVOLVED LANGUAGE

Anyone remember FORTRAN? We got programs to operate cyclically until certain criteria were met. These cyclical subroutines were called "DO" loops.

Then the computer language BASIC emerged as a simplified derivative and was easier to use. The "DO" statement turned into "FOR NEXT" loops.

Anyone tried to run an old Basic program on BASICA or QBASIC? The syntax of the statements is marginally different. The language has changed, subtly, but enough to stop the original program working.

According to the myth of Hephaestus who sowed his seed on the ground, mixed it with the dust of this mother earth and from which he created life, us, the first human being made in his image - we were genetically modified products of evolutionary life on this planet.

The life which has evolved here is the unique set of DNA solutions to the equation of reproducing life. These DNA solutions are both the software and the soft-hardware - the set of subroutine building block programs. Only these may exist because all other solutions to the equation/problem fail.

Changing the language of genetic subroutines therefore changes the evolved language into a wrong language, the solutions to which can only be wild disorders.

This complication applies not only to the vegetable and more complex lifeforms but also to the bacteria, fungi and viruses which are symbiotically related. Much GModification is in a vain attempt to make life resistant to diseases.

These bacteria, fungi and bugs will react, adapt, evolve to the new forms and generate a secondary level of new disorders. We are only now discovering the folly of the same methodology applied to antibiotics where, in creating drugs to fight bugs, we have merely created superbugs.

Not only will we create disorder in the programming of our own food chain - which means that the food/our consumption cycle will falter - but we will release a new generation of all the ills of the world.

Pandora was given a box when she was wedded to Epimetheus. In this box were all of the ills of the world, safely contained and boxed up. She was told not to open it. She was curious and thirsted after knowledge of what what was within. She opened the box and shut it again quickly - but in doing so she had let out all the ills of the world, leaving behind in her box only hope.

Perhaps Genesis deals with the future rather than the past. We are in the Garden of Eden. We have climbed the tree of knowledge. We have tasted the fruit. Now we have climbed the Tree of Life and are about to taste the fruit. In that taste we will be thrown out of our Garden of Eden and will have to till the fields among the new thistles and new thorns and worse.

No longer will our Mother Earth be the Eden of paradise . . .

How long do we have to put up with the government's spinning and PR exercises, trying to convince us that GM food stuffs are actually ok?

How many people do you know who are either fed up with hearing the arguments, or just numbed into letting the government take the decision after all?

This is what David Icke calls the 'stepping stone' approach, where small changes are introduced, a small step at a time. People either get fed up with hearing about it, or just say "Oh I don't know what all the fuss is about". It's only when you get to the opposite bank that you suddenly realise how far you've come, and how much freedom you've handed away.

Think for yourself. Watch what's happening, and above all, don't get de-sensitised to the events surrounding the bigger picture. Reject GM Foods Now!

1. US4042196: Method and apparatus for triggering a substantial change in earth characteristics and measuring earth changes

<http://patent.womplex.ibm.com/details?pn10=US04042196>

There is disclosed method and apparatus for triggering a substantial change in ionospheric characteristics of the earth and measuring certain selected characteristics of the earth. Substantial energetic particle precipitation is triggered through injection of low energy ionized gas, such as hydrogen, in the region of large fluxes of energetic particles in or near the magnetic equator.

The loss process is known to occur naturally but a triggered change is achieved through injection of larger amounts of low-energy ionized gas than are naturally present, preferably in the cusp region, which usually extends inside the synchronous orbit for several hours about local midnight.

2. US4402480: Atmosphere modification satellite

http://patent.womplex.ibm.com/details?pn=US04402480\_\_&language=en

The Atmosphere Modification Satellite is intended to be the beginning of a possible world-wide network of satellites designed to improve Earth through application of techniques and monitoring resulting in atmosphere modification. Energy sources of said satellite consist of: solar, electrical, energy particle beam(s), laser and magnetohydrodynamics (MHD). At proper plane(s) of orbit, the satellite is capable of identifying target areas and administering "M-Probes" to monitor, sample and/or modify the atmosphere. There is no limit to the number of types of of atmosphere modification the satellite will perform.

3. WO9738570A1: An Atmospheric Inversion Layer De-stabilizer Apparatus

<http://patent.womplex.ibm.com/details?pn=WO9738570A1>

An atmospheric inversion layer de-stabilizer apparatus is using the energy of the water vapor present in the earth's atmosphere to de-stabilize an atmospheric inversion layer, as a way to disperse the air pollutants concentrated below the inversion layer, in time to prevent photochemical reactions and smog formation. The apparatus may also be used to alleviate frost, disperse fog, and control the atmosphere's composition above of a limited geographic area. The apparatus is using a ring balloon (26) filled with lighter than air gas, to elevate vertically in the atmosphere an air transport shuttle (42), and a control platform (122) to control the altitude and the ascending and descending speed of the air transport shuttle (42) via a vertical cable (102) attached to the air transport shuttle (42) and wound on a motorized reel (146)

4. US4653690: Method of producing cumulus clouds

<http://patent.womplex.ibm.com/details?pn10=US04653690>

The disruption of a thermal inversion and formation of cumulus clouds is induced by the ignition of a pyrotechnic composition containing an alkali earth metal. The combined heats of hydration, condensation and combustion of the composition disrupt the thermal layer allowing the passage of warm moist air into a zone of cooler air. The formation of cumulonimbus or cumulus clouds results.

6. US3608810: Methods of Treating Atmospheric Conditions

<http://patent.womplex.ibm.com/details?pn10=US03608810>

Methods of treating atmospheric conditions including dispensing in the atmosphere surfactants, water-soluble polyelectrolytes or mixtures thereof, methods of dispersing fog by dispensing fog-coalescent materials around an unstable spot in the fog and by dispensing fog-coalescent materials in a substantially straight path through an area to be cleared, and methods of increasing rain by dispensing surfactants, water-soluble polyelectrolytes or mixtures thereof around an unstable spot in a cloud.

7. US4999637: Creation of artificial ionization clouds above the earth

http://patent.womplex.ibm.com/details?pn=US04999637\_\_

A method for forming a cloud of artificial ionization above the earth by initially heating the resident plasma at a desired altitude with electromagnetic radiation having a frequency approximately the same as that of the ambient plasma. As the plasma frequency increases due to heating, the radiation frequency is also increased until the final maintenance frequency is attained.

Circular Harmonics

Throughout the years of crop circle research, it has long been theorised that there is a fundamental link between crop circle formations and musical tones. A lot of the original, pioneering research into this was carried out by Professor Gerald Hawkins, author of "Stonehenge Decoded", who discovered diatonic relationships within crop circle designs.

A unique tape or CD is now available containing over an hour of enchanting musical tones, synthesised entirely from crop circle images. The secret to converting images to tones was pioneered by Paul Vigay in 1994 and research is continuing to this day.

Volume 1: Tape £8.00
CD £10.00
